

Community Colleges Recovery Now Funding, Maryland Higher Education Commission

$10.0 Million (R62I00.05 and R95C00)

Purpose: Recovery Now Funding

The Maryland Higher Education Commission shall increase the resources of community colleges through Aid to Community Colleges and Baltimore City Community College proportional to each colleges' share of total State aid provided under §§16-305 and 16-512 of the Education Article in fiscal year 2021. These addition funds shall be used to offer services to students or members of the community who are seeking training or other assistance to improve their job skills or reenter the workplace after losing a job or being otherwise negatively impacted by the pandemic.

Program Highlights and Plans to Allocate Remaining Balance:

- MHEC will be administering $8,782,215 to the locally governed community colleges and $1,217,785 will be going directly to Baltimore City Community College.
- Funds will be provided to the colleges for the purpose of expanding existing and developing new in-demand workforce development training and educational programs and market the programs to students and community members who are recently unemployed or want to improve their job skills to reenter the workplace.
- Colleges will be able to utilize the funds to do the following:
  - Provide direct aid to students enrolled in credit and non-credit workforce development or continuing professional education courses;
  - Fund outreach and marketing to market expanded and new in-demand programs to employers, prospective students, and recently unemployed Marylanders;
  - Fund capacity-building initiatives and enhanced ability to deliver training and licensure programs;
  - Expand existing workforce development training and educational programs that lead to an industry recognized credential, certification, or licensure;
  - Develop new in-demand workforce development training programs that lead to an industry recognized credential, certification, or licensure; and
  - Fund indirect costs up to 8%.

Programmatic and/or Implementation Issues:

- Applications for the funds were disseminated to the colleges on Friday, March 5, 2021.
- Completed applications are due back to MHEC by Friday, March 12, 2021.
- Funds will be provided to each college submitting a completed application.
- Each college will be responsible for expending the funds by June 30, 2021 and reporting to MHEC on the expenditures.
